Connecting Volunteers, Classrooms & Communities

Invitation to Become a Partner

Omprakash works to create communication and collaboration between different social actors around the world. If you are involved with a worthy project, we want to connect you with people who can learn from and support your work.

Here are a few examples of the ways that an organization can benefit by becoming an Omprakash Partner:

- We offer space within our website (www.omprakash.org) for you to represent yourself and your project with photos, video, and text. For no cost, you can create a profile and use our network to connect with supporters around the world. If you already have a website, you can provide a link on your profile to drive more visitors there.
- After you become a Partner, we work to introduce you and your project to the world, and try to find volunteers, fund-raisers, and donors who can meet your needs.
- In many cases, donors from the United States will be more comfortable sending a check to Omprakash (a registered American charity) than sending money to a foreign bank. If you do not have a bank account in the United States, your American donors can support you by donating to Omprakash and earmarking the check for your project.
- Please note that we expect all of our Partners to actively contribute to our network by sharing their ideas with other social projects, volunteers, and students groups around the world. See "Partnership Expectations and Instructions" for more information.
